WARREN SEEKS SEWAGE PLANT FUNDS FROM FEDERAL GOVERNMENT IN 1957

Warren borough council voted Monday night to apply for federal funds with which to help finance a sewage disposal plant. Deadline for the application is February 1, if the funds are to be obtained in 1957 or 1958. If the community does not undertake the project in those two years, it must reapply.

The funds were made available in a law passed last summer. Half of them are preserved for communities under 125,000, and help is available up to a third the cost of a project, but not exceeding $250,000. Councilman Frantz introduced the resolution, explaining that Warren may have lost out by not building years ago when it would have cost less, but it could save money now by taking advantage of the federal funds.

An amendment was made to the budget which provided a $300 salary increase for the borough manager who now will be paid $5,700, and a $150 increase for the solicitor who will receive $2,850.

Two additional wage brackets were established for the fire and police departments. Police sergeants after six months service will receive $340 a month. Fire truck drivers after twelve months will be paid $305.

It was decided to ask for bids on several items at the February meeting. They included a catch basin cleaner, a station wagon for the fire chief, and defense sirens. Half the cost of the $8,000 sirens will be paid by the federal government. The station wagon will replace the present emergency truck which will be sold and the money used to buy a stake truck. The truck will be equipped by the firemen for servicing work on hydrants, the alarm system, and other facilities.

J. R. Hanson was reappointed to the board of health for five years. C. A. Miller was appointed to the board of adjustment for three years. Irvine N. Branch was named police justice for 1957. David Main was appointed fire captain and William Blum was approved as a provisional fireman.

Council learned that the state had approved the installation of a traffic light at Pennsylvania and East, if traffic flow is synchronized with lights at Conewango ave. and Market st. It will be installed at a cost of $1200.

Council enthused over the use given the new skating rink, and there was talk of building another in some other part of Warren.

Solicitor Harper announced that the purchase of Mulberry playground from August Schultz had been completed. Mr. Schultz pulled and plugged the oil wells and the area has been approved by borough officials. Title searching on the land near the airport is completed and this also will become borough property soon. Part of it is occupied by the West Side playground.

Ralph Anderson, East st. resident, asked council to check the paving assessments levied against the homes on the east side of the street. He claimed they shouldn't pay half the cost because they enjoy a small share of the street due to the tracks.

Council backed the borough engineer in his recommendations for new numbers on Malvina st. homes, and learned that the Glade Run channel work has been stopped by high water and the weather. Its paving work is about fifty per cent completed.

The per capita tax ordinance was approved. Burgess Rice was designated as the man to decide what streets are to be reserved for sledding, and Councilman Miller promised ambulance regulation rules for the February meeting.

FAMILIAR GROUND In the center, facing the camera, a bit huskier than he appeared during his trial days, is Norman Moon, convicted slayer of Judge Allison D. Wade. It was about here that he came through that same gate and started shooting at court officials on January 13, 1954. When this was taken he was arising to leave the court for a short recess to await the arrival of tardy defense attorneys. Three hours later he was to stand about two feet from that spot to hear the death sentence pronounced.

WARREN COUNCIL WILL SPEND LESS IN 1957, BUT TAXES INCREASE

Warren borough's budget for 1957 will be approximately $515,178, about $14,000 less than that planned for 1956, but taxes probably will go up one mill. Last year's planned expenditures included more money in the permanent street improvement fund than now exists, thus confusing the figures. A mill is assigned to that fund this year, thus upping the tax bill.

This year's general fund totals $384,178, which is about $24,000 higher than 1956. However, one mill should manage the increase due to larger estimates for many other sources of income, and this general fund mill reduction is counteracted by a mill reduction in appropriations for debt reduction.

Property and occupational taxes are expected to yield about $255,000. This is about a mill higher than last year. Receipts from prior year taxes are up $2,500. Per capita tax, beverage licenses, and building permit estimates are up a thousand dollars each. Scale collection is expected to yield an additional $768, and miscellaneous collections are set $2,500 higher than last year. Thus with only a $15,300 increase in millage we come up with a total increase of about $24,000 for general funds.

The street lighting fund stays at $26,000. The library fund has been reduced from $10,000 to $9,000. The pension fund also is down a thousand to $9,000. The sinking fund is down $7,500, and has a tax appropriation of 2 1/2 mills as compared with last year's 3 1/2.

The big difference for total expenditure purposes is to be found in the permanent street improvement fund. A mill is allocated for $14,000. To this is added $35,000 from assessments on property paved. This provides us with $49,000 for street work in 1957. Last year it was about $78,000, but there was no millage money appropriated.

Obviously these figures are a little rough. In some places a mill is valued at about $13,000. In others it is budgeted at $14,000 or even $15,000. In a couple places three-fourths of a mill is placed at $9,000.

The council accepted the budget which now will be available for inspection in the borough office. It will be formally acted on at the February meeting with possible amendments.

TE LA DI O

PORTABLE TV
Portable TV sets may soon accompany you on your picnics and other outings. Such sets with their own power source will be made in 1958, according to W.R.G. Baker, General Electric Co. vicepresident. It is predicted that the sets will use transistors and be operated by batteries or from a conventional electrical outlet.

UN FILMS REFUGEE STORY
The United Nation's latest film production, "Out", portrays the plight of thousands of refugees. "Room is limited, but there is hope" is the theme running through the 25-minute film, first shown on ABC's Omnibus on January 13. The film is scheduled for nationwide showing as soon as details can be worked out.

The film centers around Maria and her two young sons as they escape from Hungary into Austria and a refugee camp. Maria's husband has been a casualty of the Hungarian revolt, she is lonely and afraid, she must decide for herself and her sons what they will do, where they will go. She decides to come to America and the application is quickly made. Then comes the long weary waiting and wondering. For quotas are limited and some are closed.

This is the message of the film, to minimize the physical and emotional hardships of the refugee by swift processing and transportation to eventual homes. It relates not only to Hungarian refugees of recent weeks but also to those thousands of forgotten displaced persons from World War II who are still waiting for homes in a new homeland.

LESCOULIE TO HOST
Jack Lescoulie, for five years a stooge for Dave Garroway on Today, will be the host on NBC's new Tonight program when it starts January 28. The show will be seen from 11:15 to 1 a.m., Monday through Friday.

He will coordinate the New York-Chicago-Hollywood remote pick-ups and use his many talents, which range from dancing to instrumental abilities, to lend continuity to the "America After Dark" coverage.

Six of the nation's leading columnists will do the covering. They are Hy Gardner, Bob Considine, Irv Kupcinet, Paul Coates, and Vernon Scott.

WEEKEND SPORTS
BOXING on NBC's Friday night Cavalcade of Sports . . . Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N.Y., and Hardy Smallwood of Brooklyn, a couple of free-swinging middleweights, will substitute for Carmen Basilio and Johnny Saxton at Cleveland. The welterweight title fight has been postponed until February because of an injury to Basilio's hand.

ABC carries Wednesday night bouts for mid-week fight fans.

BASKETBALL, pro, Saturday at 2:30 on NBC channels. St. Louis Hawks vs. Syracuse Nationals.

Professional HOCKEY on CBS Saturday afternoon at 2:00 pits the Detroit Red Wings against the Chicago Black Hawks.

CHANNEL CHATTER
VINCENT PRICE is climbing, thanks to his $64,000 Question show. And his appearance (in Bermuda shorts) on the Jack Benny spot last week should have upped his trendex. He recently signed an exclusive CBS-TV contract, his first assignment to host a new filmed series called "Collector's Item" dealing with art and adventure.

FRANK SINATRA'S show will hit the channels next fall. He will emcee it himself and be permitted to exercise his versatility as he pleases—drama, comedy, singing, dancing, or what will you have?

MOST BEAUTIFUL VOICE discovered by NBC in its soon-to-be-announced contest will win $25,000.

COLLEGE ON TV - Thanks to the Ford Foundation for Educational Television, Pittsburgh area viewers can get a Chatham College education from their living room easy chairs. The programs offered via WQED include drama, art, music, history, literature and the classics.

MARY MARTIN's new contract with NBC covers two shows a year for six years.

SCREEN GEMS, INC. is filming two new series, a comedy called "Tom, Dick and Harry" with Gene Nelson, Joe Mantell and Marvin Kaplan in the title roles, and the second, "Johnny Wildlife", a half-hour show taking three humans through a series of informative adventures with all kinds of wildlife.

Steve also will enjoy a first on January 20 when Ingrid Bergman will be featured on his program. It will be her first exclusive tv interview in this country since her departure to Europe eight years ago. It will be on film because she must fly to Paris early Sunday to do her performance in Tea and Sympathy. New York film critics have named Miss Bergman actress of the year for her role in Anastasia.

Other leaders of the year on the same program will include Kirk Douglas, Michael Todd, Anthony Quinn, and Richard Basehart.

OPERA VS. BASEBALL. The Yankees will be losing at the gate to opera in twenty years, says Robert W. Sarnoff. He predicts more money will be spent by Americans for opera twenty years from now than for baseball.

JOINT COMMITTEE REORGANIZES FOR '57; CONSIDERS ARCHITECT'S CONTRACT

The appointment of standing committees and discussion of the architectural contract for a new high school highlighted activity at the meeting of the Joint Committee of the Warren Area Joint School Board Monday evening.

President Melvin G. Keller appointed the following standing committees: buildings and grounds--Russell Hanson and Lee M. Schaefer, co-chairmen, Norm Grosch, Harris Johnson and W. Scott Calderwood; text books, supplies and equipment--Harry Chinberg, chairman, Mrs. June Mickelson and Fred Kiesbauer; finance--Wallace Cowden, chairman, John Miley and Myron Jewell; schools--Dr. Arthur O'Connor, chairman, Frank Colosimo and Mr. Calderwood.

In a teachers' meeting following the public session the members of the committee discussed necessary negotiations for a contract with the Erie architectural firm of Meyers, Krider, Werle & Ellenberger. Ed Werle represented the firm, which the committee had previously decided upon subject to contract approval. No final decision was reached, but another meeting was set for January 26 between the buildings and grounds committee and the architectural firm's representatives. The committee in other action did hire the Erie firm to do the necessary plans for the remodeling of the third floor of the present high school to make it adequate for the influx of students it will face next fall.

The president welcomed Mr. Calderwood to the committee, the latter having been named to fill the unexpired term left by the resignation of Charles Frantz just recently. The committee also elected Mr. Jewell the treasurer, succeeding Mr. Frantz, and named Dr. O'Connor secretary-treasurer.

Upon recommendation of the teachers' committee, the Joint Committee accepted the resignation of Fred Bell as head football coach and Ralph Veights as assistant junior high basketball coach. The latter was replaced with the appointment of Dale Jones.

Bills approved were $637, special services; $579, substitute teachers; $668, janitors' overtime; $6,357, orders written for the month; $3,937, cafeteria bills; and $1,370, services. Approval was also given the finance committee's recommendation to pay bills amounting to $10,187.

Starting February 4 there will be five cadet teachers at the high school and junior high from the Pennsylvania State University and four from Edinboro on February 11.

The committee granted permission for Dale Jones and Meade Hinderliter to attend the National Junior Historical Society meeting at Edinboro on March 28, for Mrs. Arlene Whitehill to be present at the Homemakers Convention in Harrisburg Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, and for Miss Jean Spencer to be a representative at the National Meeting of Deans of Women and Counsellors in San Francisco March 28-April 1.

Approval was also given to employ three Beatty teachers to assist with the loading and unloading of buses at the school.

AN OVERHEATED STOVE PIPE was blamed for starting a fire in the second floor and attic of this Chandlers Valley building and caused an estimated $3000 damage, Saturday morning.

The stove was situated in an apartment occupied by Marian Hawks and caused the pipe that extended through a wall and across a hall into a chimney to become overheated. As a result flames burst out and spread to the attic and front of the structure.

The building is owned by Engstrom and Peterson, who operated a grocery store there for 45 years until 1954.

Firemen from Sugar Grove responded to the call.

THE BIG FOUR, 1953 champions for the Sweet Adelines (women's division of SPEBSQSA), will perform at the Warren Barbershoppers' Night of Harmony in Beatty auditorium on Saturday night.

A glimpse at Tuesday night's floor action shows Meadville high's Bulldogs again stealing the spotlight. This time Coach John Joy's club did it by racking up a terrific 108-48 triumph over Erie Tech, and without a big pointmaker in Evans. Wes Roberts took the honors with 27 counters, and Joe Boyer-

Persons interested in participating in the Warren Revolver league are asked to be present at a meeting scheduled for 7:30 tonight (Thursday) at the Court House range.

Jim Mohnkern cut loose for side of Warren's mere 13 field goals and wound up high man for the Blue and White with 15. Ed Rickerson accounted for 10 more. On the Owls' side Scott racked off 16 points.

The standings to date are Jefferson 4-0, Home 2-2, East 2-3, Lac 1-3, North Warren 1-3 and Sugar Grove 1-3.

LOGAN'S

THE PRESS gathered in the front row for court pictures which are rare in these days of picture restriction in most areas. They were allowed to take pictures of the Moon case if they stayed in their seats, used no flash, and made no disturbance. In the foreground with a camera on his lap is Don Bindyke, of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette, charged in Westmoreland for contempt of court because he took court corridor pictures during a murder trial, Sparky Saylor of the Warren Times Mirror, and Vince Johnson, Pittsburgh reporter. Beyond is the press table, where Connie LaFrance of WNAE is seen.

COLD DAY. Within two days of the third anniversary of the January 13, 1954, court session at which he shot and killed Judge Allison D. Wade, Norman Moon returns to Warren to learn his fate. Here he is escorted to the jail by Deputy Sheriff Don Allen.

HIS LAST WALK from the Warren court room is started by Norman Moon, as officers gather around him to form an escort. Beyond him is Judge Flick who has just given him the death sentence after refusing his attorneys' plea for a new trial.

In Brief

ROUTINE REPORTS on future projects were heard by members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at their monthly meeting in the YMCA Wednesday night.

Among these was Jaycee Week, January 19-26, the highlight of which will be the annual Bosses' Night on January 24th when the Distinguished Service Award will be given a local young man. Jaycee Week will be further elaborated on at 2 p.m. January 20 in a radio forum over WNAE. Participating will be President Bob Geiger, Bill Clinger, Dick Cook and Bill Farnick.

It was learned that several entries have been made to date for the Industrial Fair in February, plans for a flag day sale were furthered, and January 22 was set for the first meeting date to plan this year's Soap Box Derby.

Several local JC's will be in Harrisburg on February 1, 2 and 3 for the TOYM meeting.

REORGANIZATION, Travers Stohlberg, president of the Northern Area Joint School Board, announced several committee appointments at the January 9 reorganization meeting of the board.

On the building committee are John H. Stewart, chairman, Alden Abbott, Emerson Spicer and Axel Carlstrom; ways and means—Mrs. Aliene Briggs, chairman, Mrs. Hazel Kays, Charles Peterson and Benton Bairstow; transportation—Mr. Spicer, chairman, Mrs. Laona Walter, Arthur Cody, Wallace Barlow and Ralph Way; personnel—Floyd Marsh, chairman, Mrs. Audrey Miller, Alfred Akins and Mr. Bairstow; athletic—Dr. George Riley, Dale Skinner, Kenneth Frank and John Chandler.

The board learned that the state reimbursement for the driver education program amounted to $610, and that approval for the tuition rate of $32.69 per month for high school students and $20.04 for elementary pupils had been given for the current year.

Bills payable during the month for both elementary and high schools amounted to $5467.39.

MEN IN SERVICE. Jon Michael Turner, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Turner, 11 Pennsylvania ave., W., Warren, and Wayne Foster, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emery Orcutt, Warren-Kinzua rd., Warren, were enlisted into the U. S. Navy at Buffalo on Wednesday, January 9. They are now participating in basic training at Bainbridge, Md.

Turner is a 1956 graduate of Warren high school and was formerly employed by the Warren Post Office, while Foster formerly belonged to the local National Guard unit.

David Redmond, storekeeper 3/C, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Johnson, Warren, received the warrant of promotion to his present rank on November 23 aboard the high speed transport USS Lloyd.

BELOW ZERO TEMPERATURES struck Warren Sunday night and have not released throughout the week. On Monday morning the official low was 11 below, the same stood for Tuesday, Wednesday it reached 15 and this morning (Thursday) it was a warm 4.

It may be hard to take (and is), but it sure is good for ice skating on Beaty rink where a layer of over eight inches has been established.

Y. About $1,000 damage was caused.

Rate Your Town Survey Completed - - Results

The "Rate Your Town" survey results, released recently by the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce, indicated that local citizens were in common on several points that showed weaknesses in the community.

In the 40 questions presented, persons surveyed were unanimous in their feelings that Warren should have a place to swim within easy distance; that schools in Warren do not have enough room for students; that streets are not all paved or in good shape; that it is not easy to find parking space in the business section; and that public toilets should be provided for shoppers.

The "Rate Your Town" questionnaire was distributed to a cross section of the local population about a year ago under the chairmanship of Alex Fino.

Only 12 per cent of the men, women, and students who answered the forty questions on the survey sheet gave Warren a score of 30 or better. According to the experts 30 yes answers on the sheet indicated that the community was a place of which to be especially proud.

No one polled gave Warren a perfect score of 40. One person rated the town with 36 yes answers, one with 35 and one scored 34. Altogether there were scores of 30 or more from only 52 persons who returned the questionnaire to the Chamber committee.

More than half of those answering -- 58 per cent -- gave the town a score of between 20 and 30, and only 3 per cent found less than 10 "yes" answers for which they thought Warren qualified.

The questions covered a variety of subjects and were submitted to workers in industry, to members of the Chamber of Commerce, to Warren high school seniors and to others who clipped the questionnaire from the Times-Mirror and mailed it to the committee.

A PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS is due right here in Warren next week. F. S. Ericsson, M.D., retiring president of the Warren County Medical Society, will give his presidential address at the monthly meeting of the society next Tuesday. It is set for 4:30 in the Warren General hospital.

Dr. Albert W. Baisler, Dean of Students at the State University of New York in Cortland, N. Y., has accepted the position of President of Jamestown Community College. He will assume his new post as soon as his resignation at Cortland is accepted, probably in the early spring.

The new president will fill the vacancy left by Dr. Frederick de-Wolfe Bolman, Jr., when he accepted the presidency of Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster, Pa., on November 1.

SUPERVISORS in Warren county include Superintendent Chester Walker (center) who is flanked (left and right) by Assistants Gifford Quiggle and Ken Ellis. These three with the help of six girls keep the paper work moving. The assistants have radio cars with which they can hurry messages to all workers on the roads during storms and other emergencies.

Keeping the roads cleared and maintained is a multi-million dollar operation in Pennsylvania. Mr. Walker and his employees keep constantly alert to methods and plans which can make the service more valuable to citizens of Warren county.

Snow Clearing Plans

By Lewis Crippen

Anxious Warren County eyes glance periodically heavenward during winter months as the quantity of expected snowfalls control their time and energy for days in succession. The theory that no two snowflakes are exactly alike has little meaning to the man behind the snowplow who is not as interested in the shape of the flake as in whether it is light and dry or heavy with moisture. The Pennsylvania Department of Highways, Division 1-c, with headquarters at Star Brick, has 141 men and women who have snow on their minds twenty-four hours per day during the months when our hills and valleys are usually coated with varying depths of the white, billowy substance.

Snow causes severe problems to motorists and the Department must be prepared to deal with it in its varying forms. Sometimes the moisture descends as hail. Sometimes the snow is heavy and sticks wherever it lands, bringing beauty to the landscape and impassable roads throughout the area. At times the snow is dry and light, resulting in high drifts which are deposited in low spots and immediately behind the windbreaks which are grown by nature or constructed by humans.

Ice is combatted by tons and tons of salt, calcium, and cinders. Heavy snow calls for long and tedious hours of plowing with the twenty trucks and five graders that are prepared for the season by the date on the calendar rather than waiting for the first flakes to drift to earth. As sure as southbound birds herald the coming of winter the appearance of men installing forty miles of snow fence on sunshining days indicates that soft drifting snow is just around the corner and protection must be in place before the north wind chills the atmosphere. Culverts, soft berms, and other obstructions are pre-marked with more than 500 stakes which rise above the snow and warn the drivers of removal equipment of the roadside hazards.

There is no delay when the weatherman predicts snow. With the first few flakes the 17 area caretakers are notified of the increasingly dangerous conditions and they immediately begin scattering cinders on their well-defined routes. Snowplow operators are called and they immediately begin to cover predetermined portions of the 530 miles of state highways in Warren County. Salt and calcium trucks rush to the obviously slippery spots which year after year have proven that more than cinders would be required to make them safe for normal traffic conditions.

When the snow falls, the state highway employee has no regular hours. He has been known to work as many as 72 hours without relief and in the first serious storm of the season several men spent 41 hours or more opening highways and relieving dangerous conditions. Rest comes with accumulated time-off when the weather breaks and Old Sol gives the final touches to snow removal.

Everyone wants the snow removed from the highway in front of his house first. Calls to the highway shed only delay the operations, however, as the plans have been prepared in advance and only emergencies can cause rescheduling of trucks and plows. All state highways are opened eventually no matter how severe the storm but it is obvious that the most traveled roads require first attention and the secondary highways must wait their turns.

Traffic would be at a standstill if the entire force of highway personnel ceased to function in the middle of the winter. Only when the snow piles up before the snowplow arrives do we appreciate the value of their services.

THE OSHKOSH TRUCK in the center is the newest piece of equipment in Warren county. On the left is a salt truck which is resting between calls. On the right can be seen the plow on a truck which was used for battling the great storm in Erie which dropped 24 inches of snow in the same number of hours. Altogether, Warren County lent five trucks, two graders, and twelve men in the effort which called hundreds of extra trucks into Erie in order to open the main artery between Buffalo and Cleveland.

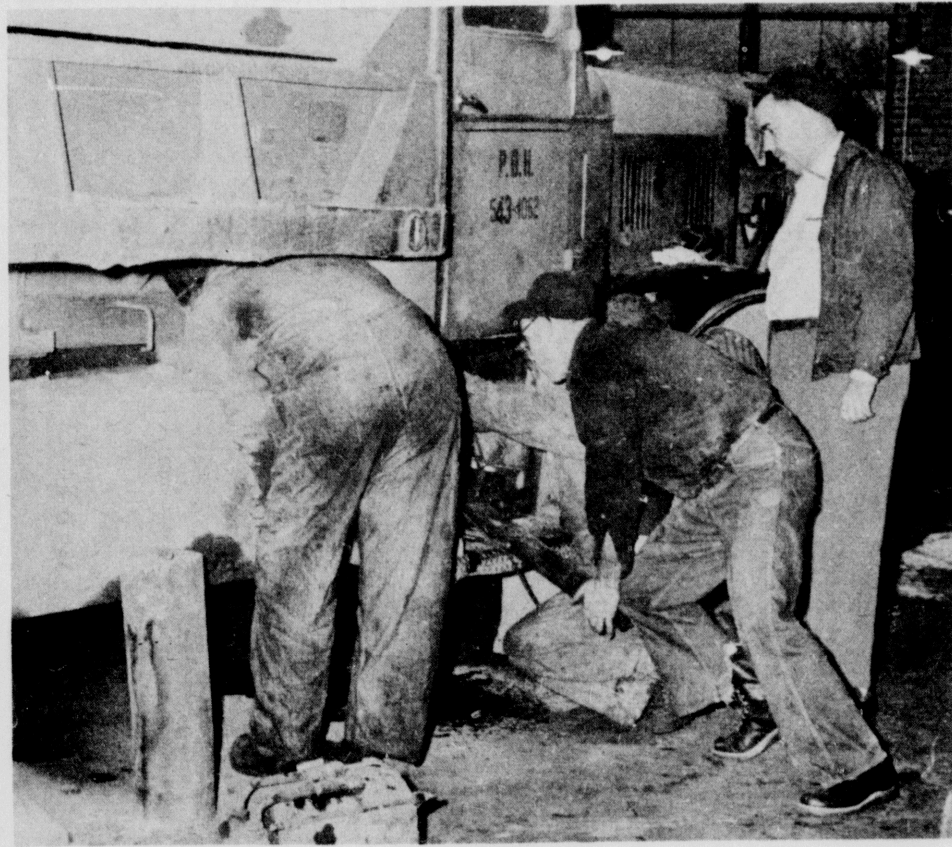

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is organized to conduct projects that better the community and give young men 21 to 35 years of age opportunities for leadership training.

RADIO AND TELEPHONE are utilized by Jim Carter to start the snow removal wheels turning. He calls the caretakers and makes sure that they are on the job with two laborers for helpers. He keeps in constant contact by radio with the three trucks that are so equipped and the other operators call back from pre-determined points where they know that telephone service is available twenty-four hours each day.

Radio trucks have proven extremely valuable because the time saved in reporting emergencies can be used for more snow removal. Snowplows which have become bogged down or have mechanical problems can notify the shed and help can be sent by the nearest truck which has radio facilities. When specified areas have been cleared the trucks can be re-routed to help other districts without precious minutes being lost in telephoning or, returning to home base.

MECHANICAL PROBLEMS are sure to arise when so many trucks are running 'round-the-clock in public service. Bob Cramer and four mechanics work feverishly at times to keep the rolling stock rolling and on occasions they can not keep up with the demand which obviously slows down progress and brings angry retorts from suffering taxpayers.

One responsibility of the trucks is to carry 320 tons of salt and 320 tons of calcium from the Fourth ave. siding to the highway shed each fall in preparation for the winter. The melting material is packed in 100 lb. bags for easier handling.

AVOID WHITE

The most dangerous color in the woods during hunting season is no color at all, or what comes closest to being colorless. A white hankie whipped out of your pocket could be mistaken for a deer's tail.

Don't laugh. A man in Maine was winged by a load of buckshot. The hunter who fired the load said he mistook the man for a deer. This seemed a little exaggerated until the wild marksman claimed the offended hunter had a white tail. Investigation revealed that the white "tail" was the pearl handle of the wounded man's revolver.

It pays to be colorful in the woods.

DEER BOTHER PLANES

Hundreds of deer are lost on the state's highways every year, but up to now we haven't read of any that got in the way of airplanes. However, it will come. In Allegheny county they are complaining that the deer are making things difficult at the Pittsburgh airport. They make themselves a nuisance by running across the landing field. Sometimes deer must be chased before the planes can land. One of these days a pilot is going to get himself a white-tail which didn't fly fast enough.

EXPENSIVE FISH

The Bellefonte hatchery loss, which was caused by cyanide pollution of Spring Creek from the Navy ordnance research laboratory at Penn State, took the lives of 147,072 brown and rainbow trout, ranging from 5 to 28 inches. The replacement cost will be $74,441, though legal minds have not agreed who will pay the bill. The cost is figured at the price of trout of the same size as sold by commercial growers.

Luckily, about 30,000 trout which became sick were saved. They apparently didn't get strong enough a dose to finish them off.

LICENSE INCREASE

You are about to hear much more about the Pennsylvania Fish Commission's proposed license price increase. Though the budget for the next two fiscal years is planned and well within the total revenues expected, it doesn't contain money for new equipment, needed repairs and improvements, or more money for the employees. There also is not enough money to take on needed new projects which will be required if the growing number of fishermen are to have their fun. A series of six articles backing up these contentions have been released to the press.

FEDERAL FISH MONEY

Pennsylvania has accepted the 1956 allotment of Dongell-Johnson revenues which is money obtained through an excise tax on fishing tackle. The amount is $141,976. It must be matched by an additional 25 per cent, with June 30 as the 1958 deadline for committing the funds to fishery projects.

FISH FROM ERIE

Bass and walleye will be transferred from Lake Erie to inland lakes and rivers this year. The Fish Commission has allocated $6,000 for each kind to be removed by commercial fishermen for catching by inland amateurs.

FIVE OF A KIND

It was no poker hand which William Hodge saw in Pike county during the bear season. He stood on a ledge where he could check a large share of the area and was astounded to see five wildcats parade in front of him. The wildlife protection assistant cut loose with his rifle and got two. Three escaped. It is rare when you see one of these animals in the day time. Hodge apparently sat in on the exodus of a family from a shooting area.

FLOOD CONTROL DAMMED

Though all who are authorities on flood control agree that the best way to keep the Allegheny river from causing millions of dollars worth of damage to area homes and industries through occasional floods is to build a large dam a few miles north of Warren, there continues to be an angle involved that may make such a project impossible. We first mentioned this when the dam was proposed about twenty years ago. Now that most people are in agreement that the dam is the thing, we see actual action taken by the Indians to keep their lands dry. Their reservation rights may change our plans.

The government may succeed in this case because it does not exactly parallel other situations. In the case of oil in the west, Indians were protected from losing their reservations for obvious reasons. In that instance there were those who would talk the reservation occupants out of their land in hopes of getting at the mineral below the grounds. The high courts ruled it couldn't be done.

In the case of the Kinzua dam, the right of public domain enters the situation. This is not a case of taking over the land for personal gain. It is a step for the benefit of the public as a whole. In a test case this might prove to be the difference and the Indians might have to accept compensation.

At the present time there is a squabble going on in Kansas that involves similar aspects. There is a burial ground on the main street of Kansas City which some Indians want to sell for commercial use. They claim it is worth a million dollars. Though the chief says he is speaking for about 900 members of the Wyandotte tribe, there are some who oppose him.

Opposition is diverse, ranging from a historical society to a lady who is one-sixteenth Wyandotte. Her mother and sister are buried in the Indian cemetery. She once defended the property with a shot gun when a similar action was attempted about forty-five years ago.

This time she not only may get the gun out, but one of her daughters is a lawyer who previously argued the validity of the 1855 treaty before the Supreme court. It upheld her contentions. In addition, Mrs. Conley says she will place a curse on the Chief if he continues to attempt the sale.

Though the mineral rights case is different from a government plan to provide safety for an area, the defense of the cemetery lot in the middle of a major city comes close to being parallel to the Cornplanter and Seneca situations. However, there still is the difference that in Kansas City the tribe wants to sell for commercial purposes.

We are inclined to believe that the government may be successful in its effort to obtain land for flood control. But no one knows until all appeals and legal steps are completed. In case the dam cannot be built, we are faced with a flood control problem that probably will end up with dykes and small dams that will offer protection to some and may make it even worse for others.

 WARREN QUALIFIES FOR SEWAGE AID

If we read the limited versions of the Federal Public Law 660 correctly, Warren can obtain a grant of $250,000 toward the construction of a sewage disposal plant. We have mentioned this several times, but never were we quite as well informed. (Since this was written, Warren's borough council has voted to apply for these funds.)

The law authorizes the appropriation of $50 million each year for grants to municipalities which are building sewage treatment plants. The Federal government contributes with such sewers. But obviously Warren will have used the $250,000 limit up long before it gets to such incidentals.

It is estimated that Warren can finance and operate its completed system at a sewage rental cost of $2 per month for each house. This will be handled through an authority, which will issue bonds and build the plant. When the bonds are paid off, Warren will own its plant.

The big problem in Warren will be to determine how much storm sewer it wants to lay to avoid processing millions of gallons of drainage water. There are portions of the community which have almost no drainage sewers. This means that many of the sanitary sewers are carrying off far more than sewage and a larger plant will be needed than would be the case if storm sewers were present to do the job.

We also must remember that our sewage plant location is subject to floods. The community must build a system that can be emptied into the river during such emergencies, and these should be minimized by building the plant well above the average flood level.

The Warren Jaycees are a part of a national organization of 3,200 chapters and 200,000 members with a national headquarters in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

It is a little late perhaps, but it is encouraging to see President Eisenhower however and some around him admitting that we have inflation. At election time they wouldn't admit this, and we think it unfortunate that the task of doing something about it is left to a lame duck President, the first in the history of our nation.

We doubt if what the President has to say in the next four years will carry much weight in Congress, no matter which party controls any given legislation. There may be some front work to make Nixon look like Ike, but for solid results we are skeptical.

While the administration last November was saying that we have prosperity and no inflation the records were proving otherwise. And they still are revealing how wrong those denials were. It isn't getting any better, as you will know if you have traded a 1953, 54, or 55 model car in on a 1957 edition lately. Our experience is that the identical car we bought three years ago now costs at least $300 more. That's a rich inflationary goose.

Back in October when the boys were soap-boxing the economy with an illusionary glow, rent had gone up 33 per cent since 1949. Solid fuels were up 32 per cent, household operation costs were up 24 per cent, transportation was costing 32 per cent more, and it cost you 34 per cent more to be sick.

Food had gone up 13 per cent, clothing only 6 per cent, house-furnishings only 3 per cent (in Pennsylvania they had increased 6 per cent). Gas and electricity had increased 12 per cent in the United States and 17 per cent in Pennsylvania.

You probably are saying that this was a seven year increase and still might not suggest that inflation was increasingly with us in 1956. So let's look closer.

Solid fuels and oil had gone up

3.3 per cent since July, and 5.2 per cent since October, 1955. Transportation costs increased 3.8 per cent from July to October, and 4.7 per cent in a year.

Medical care went up 1.1 per cent in the three months preceding the election, household operation increased 1 per cent, clothing jumped 1.4 per cent.

Everything except food jumped in those campaign months when we were blithely being told not to worry about inflation. It suggests to us that leaders in Washington either have been blind to a danger or have been well aware of it and have wished to do nothing about it. Now that some proclaim they wish to check it, will they be able to?

BOND PRICES

With the Warren area very much involved in the cost of a new high school and perhaps a sewage disposal plant, the interest rate now being charged for bond issues is of vital concern. Blair county just issued one for a half million dollars at 2-3/4 per cent, Abington twp. has obtained $600,000 for school purposes and is paying only 2-5/8 per cent. Allegheny county is paying 3-1/4 per cent for a six million dollar issue, and 2-1/2 per cent for a two million dollar one. Erie is paying 2-1/2 per cent for $845,000 in bonds for a housing project.

With very few exceptions the bond issues are going for less than 4 per cent. Of thirty-three issues, only seven small ones are costing four per cent or more. Fourteen are in the three per cent bracket, and twelve are costing less than three per cent.

Warren and its surrounding area should enjoy a comparably low rate.

PENELEC EXPANSIONS

Penelec announces it will spend $23,000,000 on new facilities in 1957, of which some will be used to take power from Warren to Erie. Apparently we are not expanding fast enough in this area to use the available power.

A 115,000-volt line will be built from Warren to Erie to make available power generated from Warren and Shawville stations. Major substation improvements are planned, though none is listed for Warren. Shawville, Ridgway, Erie, Everett, Somerset, Brookville, Oil City, Sayre, Altoona, and Johnstown are in for expansion and improvement.

ASKING QUESTIONS

An effort to learn replacement needs in household furnishing lines is being made this week by the Bureau of the Census. Owners are being asked when their equipment was purchased, whether or not it was new, and similar questions. It is supposed to help the U. S. Department of Agriculture when it does budget counseling and arrives at family living costs.

Congress Cold Toward President

By Doris Fleenon

WASHINGTON.--President Eisenhower's State of the Union message was vague, pedestrian and gently exhortatory. It broke no new ground and laid no basis for a sustained Administration policy for the next four years.

This was an extraordinary departure from the usual performance of a newly elected and not yet inaugurated President. A Presidential State of the Union message at the start of a new term customarily represents the battle flag of himself and his party.

By normal custom, Congress learns from it what the President wants done to carry out the promises of the campaign. Mr. Eisenhower offered almost no blueprints, only pious hopes.

Even this was not the big surprise of the occasion. Congress has learned not to expect from Mr. Eisenhower a concrete plan of action.

What did occasion astonishment was the character of the reception he got from the joint session. It was perfunctory to the point of being disinterested.

At no time did the man who was overwhelmingly re-elected only two months ago receive a genuine cheer, even from members of his own party. He was politely welcomed to the House chamber, but it was four pages and 16 minutes later before the first spattering of applause punctuated his remarks.

It was a mild show of approval for his reiteration of his partnership power policy, which had been in question since Senator Wayne Morse defeated the former Eisenhower Secretary of Interior, Douglas McKay, in Oregon last fall.

He was again briefly applauded a few minutes later when he dumped the Powell amendment to the school construction bill and called for its enactment uncomplicated by the integration problem.

He plodded on for 10 minutes more before he got another sign of approval. It came from part of the Republicans who were cheered by his promise to continue his efforts "to eliminate government competition with private business."

His last burst of applause came near the end when he paid tribute to the "dignity of all men alike created in the image of the Almighty"—a noncontroversial proposition popular on both sides of the aisle.

It is true that the speech was neither eloquent nor a call to action. But the President has delivered many pedestrian speeches during which his supporters have found occasion to interrupt with cheers. He was not even given the tribute of a bitter partisan silence.

The occasion must have been an especially frustrating one for Robert Montgomery, the TV impresario who has staged and directed most of the President's public appearances. Montgomery and other prominent members of the Eisenhower staff followed the Cabinet into the chamber and were seated near the rostrum.

The strict etiquette of Congress does not permit stage direction. As the mood of Congress became obvious, Montgomery's face became stonier and stonier.

This is the second time within a week that the President has addressed a joint session of Congress. There was obviously nothing to cheer about in his first appeal, which was for unpalatable action in a Middle East crisis which during the campaign he denied existed.

By tradition, however, the State of the Union message is the occasion for great rejoicing by the party which has won control of the executive branch for another four years. It is considered good clean fun at this point for the winners to gloat over their adversaries at every or no opportunity.

The political significance of the chilly reception which the President got, instead, is being widely debated in the cloakrooms.

Washington Secrecy And Aloofness

By Thomas L. Stokes

WASHINGTON -- If you stick around this town long enough you will eventually see nearly everything.

But it would be hard to guess, until it happened before your eyes, that the time would come when it would be necessary for Congress to pass a law to force officials of 'the world's greatest democracy' to tell the public what goes on in their particular area of government and to make public records available to the public.

That it will take an act of Congress is now the judgment of members of both branches of that body who have served on committees which have been trying for a long time to find out the extent of secrecy in your government and on what excuse it is being imposed.

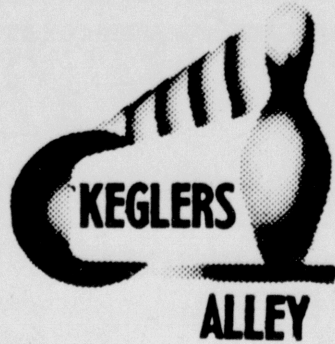

The extent of the secrecy is astounding.

Astounding also is the excuse. This is an ancient law of 1789, the year when our nation began to function. That law said that heads of government departments could prescribe regulations for "the custody, use and preservation of records." It was plainly only a house-keeping statute.

How widely it is being used today as a screen was revealed in investigations conducted in the House under direction of Rep. John E. Moss (D., Calif.), chairman of a House Government Information subcommittee and in the Senate by Sen. Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., (D., Mo.), chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights.

In this new Congress, both have introduced an amendment to the antique law so that it can no longer be used by officials to hide behind. Their objective is phrased in this language: "This section does not authorize withholding information from the public or limiting the availability of records to the public."

The "iron curtain" between the public and the various media that represent it -- press, radio, television, periodicals -- on the one hand, and, on the other, government officials, was built up during World War II. Some secrecy about national defense matters naturally was necessary -- as it still is today --

ELK WINNERS

Top men in the Elks Holiday tournament, which was operated with handicaps, were Lou Check and Glenn Grosch with 1287 in the doubles. They were just one pin better than Gib Hansen and Ken Porter who hit 1286. Harry Wooster and Myron Check were third with 1274.

The singles were won by H. Sidon with 686. Wilbur Riggs had 674, and Slug Sterling hit 667.

Six hundred scores were popping up in many leagues this week. Pete Juliano led the pack with 239 and 645 in the Industrial. He also had 614 in the City league.

Bob Chase posted 607 in the Industrial. Joe Musante rolled 236 and 636 in the National K of C. Harry Clepper shot 625 in the City, Louie Yaegle had 610 in the National Forge loop.

In the Junior Industrial Chuck Halle posted 609, Lou Cederquist spilled 607, and Virg Erickson had 235 and 602. Art Check led the Ex-servicemen with 600.

Pete Juliano led the Commercial with 592, Bucky Baumgrotz the Merchants with 581, Pete Nichols the American K of C with 544, Harold Kiser the Shop league with 544, Frank Regina the Sylvania loop with 520, Gary Dutchess had 483 in the Penn ABC Junior, and Ronnie Seder 449 in the Arcade Junior.

Busty Pintagro kegled 567 and his wife, Jean, 365 to pace the Tuesday league. Glenn Grosch had 548 and Nell Elliott, 454, to top the Friday circuit.

THE LADIES

Kay Gibson rolled 212 and 513 to lead the lady keglets. She churned them out in the Major league where Rita Miley had 510, and a 202 game.

Barb Weiland rolled 494 in the City league, Arlene Brewster hit 446 in the Automotive, Helen Pusateri bowled 445 in Peg's league, Bernice Rieder, 436 in the Class C, and Mary Walker had 427 in the Minor.

but the area of secrecy has now been stretched and stretched by all sorts of officials, high and low, to hold back other information which has not the slightest relation to national defense and to which the public is entitled.

This expansive secrecy has the obvious advantage which you may easily discern. It gives the official an excuse to hide things that go on in his special sphere that would reflect on him, a very human attribute but not one to be encouraged or even tolerated in public business.

What has done more than anything else to intensify the secrecy and extend it further and further in this Administration is an aura of sacrosanctity which it somehow has been able to wrap about itself, something new under the Washington sun. It seems to have developed from the emotional response that the present head of our government attracts, which is perhaps normal for the hero image peculiar to war, so that he is set apart and above government, politics and party. He has attained a sort of royalty.

It is, consequently, almost sacrilegious to question him, and so to question the Administration that he heads. This encourages the aloofness that both he and his Cabinet officers practice, that is, so far as public prying into the government they administer is concerned. It is easy to pass from that stage to the next, which is the assumption that their business is not exactly public business, but privileged business. It's natural also for that assumption to percolate through the whole Administration, down to even minor officials.

One other figure of our time enjoyed adulation, but not from all the people. Franklin D. Roosevelt was saved from deification by the constant stream of criticism turned upon him and his Administration. He was bitterly hated in many quarters. About 85 per cent of the press was against him after his first Administration, and thereafter fought him, derided him, and encouraged their reporters to pry into every nook and cranny of his Administration. It must have been hard for him to take, but it was healthy and showed a lively democracy.

President Eisenhower enjoys the support of about 88 per cent of the press, with the consequence that he escapes criticism almost entirely. Nor is any encouragement given to the kind of examination of him and his Administration that was always going on in respect to the previous two Administrations.

He and his Administration naturally capitalize upon this special treatment to withdraw from contact with the press. How rarely Cabinet members now meet with the press, as compared with previous Administrations, has been spelled out here previously. They take their cue from above.

President Eisenhower's news conferences have been most irregular. Judging from what has happened since his triumphant re-election, we might assume they will be fewer and further between in his second Administration. From the fact that only one has been held in the more than two months since the election, and in a period of momentous events, we might infer that news conferences might be put on a quarterly basis, which would set a new record.

Television and Radio

By John Crosby

There's nothing like a good laugh and the other night the whole country had a chance to roar with laughter over the misfortunes of Mrs. Gladys Workman on Ralph Edwards' "This Is Your Life" program. Mrs. Workman, who has been dogged by accidents and illness her whole life, led the hilarity, capably assisted by a host of her friends who doubled up with mirth at each misfortune.

I knew it would come to this eventually; there is so much agony on the air that sooner or later we were bound to start laughing at it - but it did come as a shock to hear Mrs. Workman get the giggles about a childhood illness that left her deaf, dumb and blind. During the years of her affliction, her brothers and sisters used to tease her and wave things in front of her to find out if she could see and laugh at her. Her parents encouraged this practice, telling Gladys she should be happy she was able to make children laugh. Self-pity, we were told, was not allowed in Oregon.

After a few years sight, hearing and speech were restored, and Gladys, then a young girl, went out to crank her father's Maxwell and broke her arm. Gladys had clean forgotten this but howled when reminded of it. On her first job, there was a large hole on the premises so - "well, naturally, Gladys fell in and broke her foot," related a friend, gasping with merriment. The doctors wanted to cut off the foot but Gladys insisted they leave it on. After the foot healed, she got another job but soon broke her neck.

Well, I tell you it went on like that, just one hilarious incident after another - her husband's dye poisoning, her own heart trouble and sleeping sickness and St. Vitus dance, floods on the old homestead - until I thought I'd split a gut. And I thought Mrs. Workman would, too. To say nothing of her friends. (I'll just have to skip the bit about the cow with diarrhea. I can't tell it the way Gladys does.)

But then Gladys had to go and spoil it all. Mr. Edwards presented her with a TV and hi-fi set and $1,000 worth of classical records and she started to cry. One of her pals on the show, Ma Crews, a tough and tiny dame from Oregon - mindful of that rule about self-pity, kept leaning over and whispering: "Stop your bawlin'." But Edwards shoved her aside, shouting: "Let her bawl if she wants to. You just leave her alone, Ma Crews."

Back in the sixteenth century, the folks used to drop in on Bedlam, the lunatic asylum, for a good laugh at the afflicted. But we have progressed. With this electronic miracle of television, the afflicted can be brought right into your living room. The idea of laughing at them on television is relatively new, though. Pioneer in this development, to my knowledge, is Jack Bailey, emcee of "Queen For A Day," who frequently makes small witty sallies at the girls when they tell him about their husband's paralysis or their children's encephalitis.

It's a practice I should think the broadcaster would nip in the bud. Pretty soon people will be laughing at soap opera and then where will we be?

We had an orgy of birthdays over the weekend - the Gleason show being turned over to a celebration of Eddie Cantor's sixty-fifth and "Washington Square" dwelling somewhat less extensively on the birthday of its star, Ray Bolger. I only saw the Cantor show intermittently so I'm not qualified to pass on it as entertainment. However, I couldn't avoid the credits which showed that it was "created and produced by Eddie Cantor." Well, of course, there's no rule that says tributes to stars can't be created and produced by the stars themselves - but it just seems a little odd.

The Bolger birthday cake was introduced more tactfully and also, more importantly, it was the best of the "Washington Square" shows I've seen. With Milton Berle and Polly Bergen as guests, the show was tuneful and gay and unpretentious; it had an oldtime vaudeville turn that was so bad it was wonderful and it contained a lot of Bolger's nimble footwork.

The Dinah Shore show with Perry Como as guest was also as gay a romp as you'll find on television. Miss Shore's shows with their informal spoofing and dancing and enormously professional singing are as close to pure television as you'll find anywhere.

BRADFORD COURSE

Bradford golfers continue to make plans for a public course. The estimated cost is about the same as that set on a Warren course six years ago. It will cost around $45, 000 just to build the nine holes. This does not include land, preparation, and buildings. It also does not include equipment and probably does not include water pipes.

Al Cooper, Penn State agronomist who so willingly offered his help to Warren golfers, is helping the Bradford group. Much money can be saved if his advice is followed and local contractors do specific jobs. Soil has been analyzed, three sites are being considered, but no drive for members will be made until all plans are completed and approved. Then a corporation will be formed.

JOAN TO VIOLA

Siobhan McKenna, Irish actress who now is playing Saint Joan in New York, may be seen by you next summer when she appears at Stratford, Ontario, as a part of the fifth annual season of Shakespearean drama which has become a fixture there. Hamlet and Twelfth Night will be featured in this year's ten-week season.

Miss McKenna's career has taken her from Belfast to Galway, to Dublin, London, Stratford-on-Avon, Edinburgh, New York, and now Ontario. She will play Viola in Twelfth Night. She was the first Irish actress ever to be honored by an invitation to Stratford-on-Avon for a nine-month season in which she appeared in As You Like It, Coriolanus, MacBeth, and Volpone.

She first played St. Joan at Dublin. It moved to London where her performance in the role earned her the Best Actress of the Year award. Her American performance as St. Joan originated at the Cambridge Drama Festival last August. After a week in Philadelphia it opened in the New York Phoenix theatre.

FLYING SWIMMERS

An article in the New York Herald Tribune last week was a humorist bit concerning Nancy King, of Tidioute, who is a member of the Metropolitan opera ballet group. The ballet dancers have been called on to provide an illusionary scene in the production of Das Rheingold.

Three ballet dancers, billed as the three flying Rheingolds, will soar through the air back of a screen. To give them the appearance of swimming rather than flying or gymnasts, no ropes or other equipment must show.

In rehearsal one of the girls narrowly missed crashing into a table and Miss King collided with another girl in mid-air. She was quoted as saying she felt a little shaky after the crack-up. The other girl said the act was more exciting than riding a western pony.

The Tribune writer quips that they are doing the act without flight pay. Das Rheingold opens January 18.

SWING SHIFT

It may be shovels they are using these days, but the golfers see a bunker in every drift and already are laying their plans for those warm days when anything resembling that white stuff will call for a wedge. Country Club golfers are planning on handicaps that will be based on eighteen holes this summer. It will give them a better break in inter-city play.

They also will limit tournament play to those with sufficient posted scores to merit handicaps. The season's schedule will be acted on at the next meeting, March 7. On the committee this year are Heggis Schmidt, Bill Rice, Howard Colt, Westy Ensworth, Dr. Wallace Sedwick, Skip Morine, Milt Dahler,
